Information About Your Request to Access Your Protected Health Information (PHI)

What does the right to access PHI mean?

You have the right to look at and get a copy of your information that is kept by Community Health Plan of Washington in the designated record set. The designated record set includes records used to make decisions about you as a member. It might also include records about enrollment, claims, plan case management, medical management, or pharmacy information.

What do I need to know to use this right?

You have the right to get or see a copy of your protected health information.

There may be legal limits on your access to your records. For example, a licensed health care professional can limit your access if she or he thinks that giving you the information would endanger your safety or the safety of others.

We will respond to your request within 30 days. If we cannot respond within 30 days, we will send you a written notice that it will take longer.

How much will this cost?

We may charge you a reasonable fee. When a fee applies, we will tell you how much it will be so you can decide if you want to change or cancel your request.

How do I ask for access?

Fill out and print the attached form. Then mail it to the address at the end of the form.

How will I know if my request is processed?

We will send a letter to the address you write on the form.

In some cases, Community Health Plan of Washington may deny your request. If we deny your request, we will tell you in writing and let you know if and how you can appeal our decision.

How can I get a full notice of my privacy rights?

A full notice of your privacy rights is on the Community Health Plan of Washington's web site at: http://chpw.org/for-members/your-privacy-and-rights/

HCA Approval: 2018-374
